

Grace Private Society

RECLARATION OF CONSTITUTION

This Constitution was established to define the supreme Societal Laws for the Sovereign Members of Grace Private Society on this Twenty-Ninth day of the Third month in the year Two Thousand Twenty-Three.

The Preamble

Grace Private Society (hereafter “Society”) has been established as a Sovereign Body of Living Men and Women who do assemble for mutual benefit and support with a divine mission to create a New Earth Paradigm of widespread peace and prosperity.

This Society shall encircle this planet Earth and permeate throughout this world as a Charitable and Missionary organisation to implement Humanitarian and Environmental solutions that shall contribute the evolution of this realm.

As articulated within the Nine Articles below we hereby establish this our Constitutional Law as the founding bedrock and supreme Law to which this Society and its assembled Members do vow to uphold and always protect by sacred covenant.

Article 1

DIVINE AND NATURAL LAW

This Society and its Members do recognise there is a Divine Source of Creation (hereafter “Divine”) as the original creative force of the planet Earth, Nature, and ALL Life that dwells upon, and whereby the Members accept:

1. The Divine is all-encompassing – it is everything, everywhere, and everyhow that is known and unknown or seen and unseen.
2. The Divine is ineffable; it cannot be defined as one singular aspect of reality; and for that reason we do not subscribe or conform to any one Religious, Spiritual, or Scientific doctrine that subverts, hijacks, diminishes, desecrates, restricts, limits, represents, or reduces the Divine into a man-made concept, fantasy, fiction, narrative, or personified deity.
3. We recognise that Life exists as an expression of the Divine; and where the Divine is an inherent quality of Human existence and nature.
4. We define a Human as a Living Man or Woman with a soul, breath, flesh, bones, blood, and every other feature of Life in expression.
5. We recognise the Divine as the original and natural Law of Humans, and where Humans are born as the expression of a Natural Law that can never be changed or terminated.
6. We recognise the Divine as a duality reality with polarity. This means every one aspect of reality has an opposite quality as defined by Humans in terms such as positive or negative; good or bad; up and down; hot and cold; right and wrong, day and night, etc. This means the Law of Nature is opposing and dualistic and whereby:
 - a. Humans as a natural expression of the Divine also have a dualistic nature.
 - b. Humans are born with the potential to express opposite qualities.
 - c. Humans therefore have been endowed with inherent and natural freedoms and rights to express actions for better or worse.
7. We recognise Humans are born with the inherent ability to use intelligence, sensation, logic, and reasoning to discern between the opposite qualities of reality; and where each Human can experience and differentiate between good and bad actions.

Article 2

SOVEREIGN FREEDOMS AND RIGHTS

ALL Living Men and Women of Earth have the natural and inherent freedoms and rights to live in accordance with their own Sovereign Free-Will choice and personal conscience – second to none, and where each Member recognises:

8. Natural and inherent freedoms and rights originate from the Divine as the intuitive and impulsive actions of a Human that can never be granted, obtained, or derive from any external authority.
9. Each Human is the expression of the Divine with an original internal authority that takes precedence before all external authorities.
10. External authorities are secondary to the natural and inherent freedoms and rights that stem from the original and inherent authority that all Humans possess by Divine right, and where this said authority shall never be inferior or secondary to the dictates or violations of external authority.
11. Each Human has freedoms and rights as an expression of Divine Natural Law; as where these freedoms and rights are recognised below:

LIVING EXPRESSION

12. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to express thoughts, feelings, emotions, speech, actions in accordance with one's own personal conscience, Free-Will, and volitional choice.

LIVING LOCATION

13. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to locate to any place and occupy any position on any Land on this Earth for the purpose of creating a habitat, and where Humans are free to move across this Earth and settle in different Locations.
14. We recognise Land as necessary to facilitate Life; to secure and build shelters, organise communities, cultivate food production, energy, and water supplies. Where the utilisation of Land and its natural resources are necessary to create a self-sufficient livelihood.

LIVING INDEPENDENCE

15. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to live and operate separate and independent from others with full autonomy over personal decisions and actions.

LIVING BODILY INTEGRITY

16. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to be safe and secure within one's own Body, and where each Human reserves the ultimate decision over how their own Body is to be expressed and treated.

LIVING PROPERTY

17. We recognise property as tangible and intangible resources, materials, and objects of substance and value. Humans need property such as houses, vehicles, clothing, tools, equipment, etc, to secure and sustain Life. Property is essential for Human survival and production.

LIVING PROCREATION

18. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to have consensual intimate relations to bare offspring, create a family, and ensure the survival of our species.

LIVING WELFARE

19. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to secure any resources and engage with any activities that nurtures and supports psychological, physical, and spiritual well-being. Where the pursuit of optimal health and social activities does improve Human welfare.

LIVING COMMUNITY

20. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to unite, socialise, assemble, associate, and build communities for group activities and ventures that provides mutual benefit and support.

LIVING PRIVACY

21. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to exist and operate in seclusion and privacy without exposure or disclosure to others; to think, decide, and act in a private and confidential manner; to engage in activities not accountable, answerable, recorded, or privy to others.

LIVING LIVELIHOOD

22. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to utilise and exchange natural resources to support and nurture Life; and where the accumulation of resources and property is good to expand and secure the experience of Life.

LIVING DELEGATION

23. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to transfer personal authority and powers.

LIVING PEACE

24. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to live with peace and tranquillity in secure settings and safe conditions free from any conflict, contamination, destruction, disturbance, or interference caused by Nature or others.

LIVING PROSPERITY

25. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to thrive in abundance and acquire wealth to improve Living standards.

LIVING DEFENCE

26. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to protect both Life and Livelihood from others; to defend against any actions and attacks that threaten to deprive or destroy Life and resources; and where the use of proportionate and necessary physical force as compatible with self-preservation and self-survival is justified when used to defend against hostile and trespassing forces.

LIVING JUSTICE

27. We recognise Humans embody the natural freedom and right to seek justice for any wrongdoing, injury, damages, and losses caused by others; and where justice can be provided in a private setting or court setting where Law is honoured and adjudicated in Equity.

OBSERVATIONS OF FREEDOMS AND RIGHTS

INDIVIDUAL FREEDOMS AND RIGHTS:

28. We recognise Human Life as having individual freedoms and rights separate to others; and this means not determined or derived from a group consensus or collective majority. A collective can never be greater, more important, and never have priority agency or superiority over the freedoms and rights of the individual. The individual Human with original authority shall always retain the freedom and right to accept or reject the will of a collective.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF FREEDOMS AND RIGHTS:

29. We recognise Humans must exercise individual responsibility within a collective setting to ensure:

- a. There is mutual respect for personal freedoms and rights.
- b. There are consideration, empathy, compassion, allowance, acceptance, and tolerance towards others.
- c. There is intention to forgive and make amends for any violation of freedoms and rights, and whereby:
- d. We each have a responsibility to uphold and protect the personal freedoms and rights of those who lack the mental wherewithal or physical capacity; and:
- e. To oversee and protect the freedoms and rights of underage, immature, incompetent, absent, sick, incapacitated; mentally impaired, or physically disabled Humans; and where:
- f. Each Human can authorise a representative, caretaker, and protector to uphold and protect his/her freedoms and rights, and where the transfer of power must be lawfully documented and agreed-upon.

VIOLATIONS OF FREEDOMS AND RIGHTS:

30. We recognise Human freedoms and rights have been violated when infringed-upon, interfered with, trespassed-against, denied, rejected, neglected, usurped, diminished, mistreated, manipulated, stolen, extorted, charged, coerced, deceived, harmed, forced, subverted, subjugated, suppressed, restricted, interrogated, molested, limited, deprived, conditioned, disrupted, endangered, destroyed, or any other type of action that removes or lessens the freedoms and rights to Life.
31. We recognise Human freedoms and rights are violated when an authoritative power attaches a licence, lien, order, permit, fee, penalty, tax, levy, or any other grant or charge upon the freedoms and rights of a Human; forces a Human to conform or perform; or enslaves, incarcerates, and traffics a Human.
32. We hereby decree that Human freedoms and rights can never be trespassed against, denied, or refused by any authoritative powers in the name of “safety” and “security”, and can never be violated against the Free-Will choice and consent of the Individual who shall always reserve the right to refuse, reject, and resist any actions that violate personal freedoms and rights.
33. Each Human shall always be the original authority of personal freedoms and rights, and this means the personal freedoms and rights can never be:
- a. Determined, granted, permissioned, removed, suspended, or ruled over by any other authority without consent from the individual.
 - b. Removed or suspended as a result of Force Majeure; or any event or circumstance that includes and yet are not limited to the denial-of-service attacks, insurrection, fires, floods, storms, safety, security, explosions, “acts of God”, war, terrorism, and any other type of natural or man-made events and conditions.
34. The individual freedoms and rights of each Human shall always take precedence and prevail in all events and conditions, and where Human freedoms and rights shall always be natural, autonomous, voluntary, irrevocable; and this means a Humans freedom and right to Life shall only terminate and cease to exist at the point of death.
35. Each Human has a duty and responsibility to assert and protect freedoms and rights to prevent the tyranny and oppression of evildoers that seek domination.

36. Any Human that represents a Crown, State, Government, Authority, Agency, Institution, or Organisation that violates the freedoms and rights of an Individual Human has committed an immoral and criminal act, and where the injured party can hold the offending party accountable and liable for restoration and recompense.
37. Human freedoms and rights are all-encompassing and not discriminating; and therefore, not subject to a Humans Race, Sex, Age, Belief, Religion, Ideology, Status, Politic, Jurisdiction, Nationality, Country, or any other man-made factor; concept or distinction.
38. Humans must be able to exercise their freedoms and rights without the fear of retribution, persecution, or punishment from others; and where each Human shall have access to Due Process of Law, Rule of Law, and the Law of Equity.

Article 3

SOVEREIGNTY AND PRIVACY

This Society and its assembled Members stand on this Earth and operate in this World with Sovereignty and Privacy as the supreme principles that uphold and protect our natural freedoms and rights.

39. We recognise Sovereignty and Privacy as the natural freedom and right to live and operate without any pledge, allegiance, acceptance, acquiescence, belonging, bondage, conformity, servitude, submission, or subservience to any authoritative powers or doctrines from any one individual or collective Body.
40. We recognise Sovereignty and Privacy as the individual's natural freedom and right to have complete dominion and paramount authority over the matters of the individuals own personal Life and Estate – second to none.
41. We have peacefully withdrawn all consent from all Worldly authorities that violate natural freedoms and rights as expressed within this Constitution.
42. We have chosen to exercise our original and inherent authority to determine, direct, and govern the matters of our Individual and Collective Lives with Sovereign independence and privacy from all other authorities on this Earth and in this World.

43. We do not consent, receive, grant, or accept any alleged or purported venues and jurisdictions that are a violation and desecration of natural freedoms and rights to Sovereignty and Privacy.

44. ALL activities conducted within our own sovereign and private venue and jurisdiction shall always reserve independence from all other venues and jurisdictions in this world.

Article 4

SOCIETAL STANDARDS AND VALUES

This Society and its Members do recognise a Good Life as best lived with values and standards that excels the Human experience.

45. We recognise values and standards are expressed in conduct and creations; and where it is prudent to conduct ourselves with high standards and best practices; to create from best resources and finest quality; and make the best efforts to provide the right conditions for Life to thrive.

46. We recognise good conduct as treating ourselves and others with respect, honour, empathy, compassion, and goodwill - as these shared Human qualities will cause us to ALL rise in morality and virtue.

47. We recognise good creation as products, resources, services, and solutions that solve genuine needs and problems, nourishes Life, supports health, and improves the experience of Life.

48. This Society values good communication. We recognise good communication as sharing information that is based in verifiable facts and truths; and where information should be investigated, challenged, questioned, and clarified before drawing any conclusions or taking actions. Therefore, it is incumbent upon each Member to only share and accept information once there is due diligence on the source.

49. This Society values good science. We recognise “good science” as reality-based studies that are observable, factual, demonstrable, measurable, questionable, and provable, and where the study of the principles of nature leads to discoveries and innovations that benefits Humanity.

50. This Society shall never engage with bad science. We recognise “bad science” as studies that negates, distorts, or omits the facts of reality.

51. Bad science is based-upon theories, hypothesis, speculation, and computer-based models that have no substantial basis in actual reality and cannot be verified as credible, factual, or truthful. Bad science is when information is accepted without challenge or question. Bad science is to waste resources on projects and experiments that offer no real benefit to Humanity or indeed causes harm to Humanity.
52. This Society values artistic expression. We appreciate all forms of Art that commemorates and celebrates the most significant and deepest presentation of Humanity, Nature, Beauty, Emotions, and Gift of Life.
53. This Society values great architecture. We appreciate infrastructure, buildings, Landscapes, Monuments, and communities that are designed with symmetry, simplicity, variety, refinement, precision, splendour, elegance, and attractiveness.
54. This Society values innovation. We appreciate ALL creative solutions that improves the quality of Life and standards of Living.
55. This Society values good health. We appreciate all activities and environments that nourishes, strengthens, and prolongs the vitality of Human Life.
56. This Society values excellence. We appreciate conduct and creations that express brilliance, greatness, superiority, competency, purity, fineness, merit, superbness, and mastery. Where the best practice and results shall always be favoured above all else.

Article 5

THE GRACE ADMINISTRATION

This Society and its Members have formed the Grace Administration (hereafter "Administration") to oversee and manage the mission and operations of the Society with the intention to provide and maintain ALL facilities from Healthcare, Education, Energy, Resources, Law and Order, Value Exchange; and to secure and protect the Sovereign freedoms and rights of each Member.

ADMINISTRATIVE STRUCTURE

57. The Administration shall establish and oversee subdivisions known as Orders; and appoint competent Members to manage specific aspects of the Society.

58. The Administration and Orders are structured to operate with internal policies that must align with the principles of this Constitution; must honour and protect Sovereign freedoms and rights; and where administrative policies will always take precedence over the opinions, ideas, and directives of individuals.
59. The Administration shall never be structured into a political organisation with political parties, and this means the Administration or Society can never operate as a democracy, republic, liberality, or any other political ideolog or system; and where the Administration can never form any type of political contest or voting system that would divide and oppose the Members of this Society against each other.
60. The Administration shall never have or form any type of Government or governance where a few elected Members have total authority and dominance over a majority as this would violate the Sovereign freedoms and rights of each Member.
61. The Administration can never be a hierarchical organisation with top-down authority and control; and therefore, shall never have Rulers, Leaders, Politicians, Government Officials, or any other type of authoritative dictators as this would violate the Sovereign freedoms and rights of each Member.

ORDER OF OVERSEER

62. The Administration and Orders are overseen by the Order of Overseer (hereafter "Overseer") with the sacred duty to oversee the overall mission and development of the Society.
63. The Overseer can be managed by a single Overseer or group of Overseers.
64. A Group of Overseers must always have a minimum of three Overseers. Where Group decisions require a majority vote to be actionable.
65. Overseers are vested with the powers to issue Executive Directives. Executive Directives can only be issued to create, guide, amend, or develop internal policies that improve and advance the mission and operations of the Society. Executive Directives can never violate this Constitution or violate the Sovereign freedoms and rights of each Member.

ADMINISTRATIVE POSITIONS

66. The Administration and Orders shall be formed with competent Members appointed into specific position and roles to carry out administrative duties and responsibilities; and where a “Superseer” shall be appointed with the authority and powers to oversee the objectives of the Order.
67. The Administration and Orders shall never exceed the most efficient number of Members required to administer our Society; and where (a) the number of Members can never exceed the sufficient ratio of 10:100 = 10 Administrators for every 100 Members, and where the preferred and optimal ratio is 1:100 = 1 Administrator for every 100 Members.
68. The Administrative Members must swear oath and allegiance to this Constitution before they can occupy positions and roles within the Administration or Orders.
69. Non-Members (domestic; foreign; or otherwise) of this Society can never hold a position or role within the Administration.
70. Any Member can seek a position within the Administration or Orders. Appointments must be approved on the merits of competency alone. Competency is defined as the Member who is best qualified to hold a position and role with the Administration, and where the knowledge, skillsets, experience and wisdom of a Member are the qualifying factors. This means regardless of race, creed, identity, ideology, relation, or personal ability, only the Member with the most competency for a position and role is a suitable candidate. Competency will take precedence before all other attributes.
71. Members agree to serve the Administration or Orders on a volunteer basis with no compensation until the Society has created its own means of value exchange and compensation.
72. Administrative positions can only be held for a maximum two-year term; and where the maximum term can only be extended on a temporary basis when a suitable successor is not available.
73. If a Member of the Administration or Orders acts with treason, malpractice, malfeasance, corruption, dishonour, conflict, violence, and any other type of adverse behaviour that violates this Constitution, then the Administration team can terminate the Member's appointment.

ADMINISTRATIVE POWERS

74. The Administration shall never form or adopt a corporate, commercial, or legal structure or system to control and extort the Life's and Estates of the Members.
75. The Administration shall never create and use complex, arbitrary, irrelevant, unpragmatic, or useless policies that have no real impact or direct benefit to the Members.
76. The Administration can never raise or utilise funds to finance domestic or foreign (internal or external) conflicts, terrorism, wars, espionage, crime, surveillance, or any other activity that diminishes and destroys Life or this Earth.
77. The Administration may raise and utilise funds for Societal projects that directly benefits the Members; invests in Humanitarian and Environmental initiatives; increases and develops the Commonwealth; and where the funds can never be bonded to the debt of a creditor; and where a creditor can never have a securitised or controlling interest over the operations or Commonwealth of this Society.
78. The Administration or Orders can never have authoritative powers concentrated into one individual or collective; and where each Administrator reserves the Sovereign freedoms and rights to accept or reject policies and actions of others.
79. The Administration can never have or use authoritative powers that exceeds, misuses, or abuses the Laws of this Constitution; and can never enact Laws, policies, rules, or regulations that violates this Constitution.
80. The Administration can never grant, permission, licence, charge, or penalise natural freedoms and rights of the Members.
81. The Administration shall never have the authority or right to extort, extract, levy, charge, demand, enforce, or collect tax; duties, tariffs, or excises from the Members, and where:
 - a. Tax; duties, tariffs, or excises are considered any percentage charged upon the Life-force, productive labour, creations, or income.
 - b. Tax; duties, tariffs, or excises are a violation of Human freedoms and rights to live freely without encumbrance.

- c. The Administration shall never apply tax; duties, tariffs, or excises to the Members under any circumstance or event as this would violate this Constitution.
- 82. The Administration shall never capitalise or profit from its Members; either directly or indirectly.
- 83. The Administration shall always and only serve tenure in absolute alignment with the principles of this Constitution, and vows with sacred oath to uphold and protect the Sovereign freedoms and rights of each Member.
- 84. The Administration shall only serve the best interests of the Members.
- 85. Should the Administration ever violate this Constitution, the Members may assemble with a 90% majority vote to revoke ALL consent and demand the Administration provide resolution. In absence of resolution the Members can petition Grace Private Court and seek to terminate the positions of specific Administrators, or/and dismantle and dissolve the Administration.

POWERS GRANTED BY MEMBERS

- 86. The Administration is no longer Constitutional, lawful, or fit for purpose without the consent from a 90% majority of Members; and where the Members reserve the authority and right to assemble and form a new Administration for the Society in absence of said majority.
- 87. The authoritative powers of the Administration are granted and vested by the consent of the Members, and where the Administration can never exceed the consent of the Members. In the absence of consent or in the presence of rejection the Administration has no authority or powers.
- 88. The Administration can never enact or support any Law or policy that overrides, supersedes, negates, diminishes, limits, restricts, regulates, removes, prosecutes, or penalises the Sovereign freedoms and rights of the Members.
- 89. The Administration shall never have or use any type of Law Enforcement or forced compliance over its Members as this violates Sovereign freedoms and rights.

COMMONWEALTH POWERS

90. The Administration shall establish a Commonwealth.
91. The Commonwealth is the consolidated value of the Society in terms of the resources; property; commodities; funds, and every other type of tangible or intangible value established with the venue and jurisdiction of this Society.
92. The Administration shall acquire and maintain Lands, Buildings, Structures, Vehicles, Resources, Materials, and Equipment, and all other means necessary to facilitate and enhance the standards of Life for the Members.
93. The Administration shall acquire, build, and provide infrastructure and natural resources and energy without charge, toll, or fee.
94. Each Member shall hold an equity stake in the Commonwealth proportionate to the invested value and holdings of the Members Private Estate.
95. The Administration can never secure the equity and rights of the Commonwealth including the Members Private Estate as collateral to securitise a debt obligation.
96. The Administration can never utilise the Commonwealth to collateralise, securitise, hypothecate, fund, or contract with external interests. External interests are non-Members. External interests can never own equity, shares, or a controlling stake in the Commonwealth.
97. The Administrative Member shall never utilise the Commonwealth for personal gain; enrichment; or special privileges.
98. The Commonwealth belongs to the collective Members of this Society and never be appropriated by the Administration against the equitable rights and consent of the Members.
99. The Administration shall never become indebted with funds secured to the Society's Commonwealth; and shall never secure debt to the Private Estates of its Members.
100. The Administration shall manage the Commonwealth with full disclosure policy; and where all documented records of ALL Meetings, Decisions, Activities, Proposals, Policies, Agendas, Expenditure, and Accounting, etc, in relation to the management of the Commonwealth must always be fully disclosed and available to all Members.

101. The documented records of the Commonwealth can never be defiled, defaced, or destroyed for the purpose of concealing or destroying evidence; and where such act would be treasonous.

GRACE PRIVATE EXCHANGE

102. The Administration shall establish a system of private value exchange for Members to engage with Private Enterprise and wealth building within the Society.
103. The Administration can establish a system of representative value for the exchange of actual value within our Society; and where this system will utilise a medium of exchange known as Radiancy.
104. Radiancy can be made available in the form of Digital Merits, or/and Paper Merits infused with Gold or Silver.
105. Radiancy shall be issued with dominated units of Merits that shall determine and quantify the value of something; and where the Radiancy must always be underwritten and backed by equity to the same unit of value; and where each representative Merit shall always be redeemable for its equivalent in actual value.
106. Radiancy is a system of parity and balance where the represented value of Merits can never exceed the actual value they represent; where the operatives of the system can never inflate, deflate, manipulate, distort, or disproportionate the represented value of radiancy in circulation and use; can never create Radiancy as debt or loans with no means of parity or secured value; and can never levy the radiancy with a tax or any other form of extortion.
107. Radiancy shall only be available for the circulation and use between Members within the venue and jurisdiction of this Society, and never be used, exchanged, transacted; traded, securitised; or sold to anyone or any entity outside of the venue and jurisdiction of this Society.
108. Grace Private Exchange and its system of Radiancy is not a Bank and not a currency; will always exist and operate independent from the World Banking Monetary System of all Nation States; and never contract with or be bound to the said system; and where all forms of National or International money, finance, currency, or any other type of financial instruments can never be used as a means to do Private Enterprise within this Society.

EXTERNAL RELATIONS

109. The Administration may form external relations with other Society's and Sovereign Organisation in strict accordance with the following terms:
110. All external relations must be conducted or contracted in Life between the Living; and not in the fiction of corporate-legal entities and facades.
111. External relations can never be formed with any organisation that is engaged with or supporting war, terrorism, genocide, or any other type of destruction to Human Life or Earth.
112. ALL relations must directly benefit the Members Life's.
113. ALL relations can never violate this Constitution.
114. ALL relations can never indenture, indebt, subjugate, securitise, or bond the Members to any system of corporate, legal, or commercial servitude that deprives the freedoms and rights of the Members.
115. The Administration can never directly or indirectly accept gifts or funds from external parties in exchange for favours and preferential treatment as this would compromise the integrity of the Administration.

DEFENCE AND PROTECTIVE POWERS

116. The Administration can acquire and enact any type of defensive measures to protect the Society and its Members from invading forces on the grounds of self-preservation and right to defend Life.
117. The Administration shall never form an Army, Navy, Airforce, or any other type of military or combat unit for the purpose of invading or occupying other Lands as this would violate the Society's principle of peace.
118. The Administration shall never engage with any acts of provocation, aggression, conflict, terrorism, or war, and shall always be neutral and at peace with all other Worldly authorities.

ORDER OF GUARDIANS

119. The Administration shall establish an Order of Guardians (hereafter "Guardians").
120. The Guardians will be a select committee of competent Members who organise independent from the Overseer, Administration, and Orders.

121. The Guardians shall oversee and evaluate all aspects of the Society; and implement check and balance protocols to ensure this Constitution is honoured and protected from internal or external corruptions.

Article 6

THE SOVEREIGN MEMBERS

122. The Members of this Society have through Private Contract agreed to associate for mutual benefit and support, and where ALL activities between Members are conducted and protected by Private Contract Law.
123. All Members can exercise their natural freedoms and rights to enter Private Contracts and Private Trusts with other Members for the purpose of doing Private Enterprise and forming Private Communities within the Society.
124. ALL Members swear oath to uphold and protect this Constitution; and this means to always act in alignment with the terms stated herein and where the Member agrees to always:
- a. Be a representative exemplar of this Constitution
 - b. To contribute to the mission and objectives of this Society.
 - c. To act with equity and honour towards other Members.
 - d. To never sacrifice or forfeit Sovereign freedoms and rights.
 - e. To always hold other Members accountable for any actions or inactions that violates this Constitution.

INDIVIDUAL AUTHORITY AND POWERS

125. Each Member shall always retain the inherent and natural Sovereign authority; freedoms and rights to determine, define, and govern the matters of their own Life and Estate; and this means to act with independence from other Members; to agree or disagree; accept or refuse; engage or disengage; participate or refrain; and comply or disregard any decisions and actions made by others.

126. Each Member shall never be coerced, manipulated, overruled, forced, or enforced to conform with the ideologies, perspective, or dictates of an individual or collective majority within this Society.
127. Each Member is a conscientious and intelligent Man and Woman with the power of discernment to evaluate and determine the implications and consequence of their own personal actions or inactions within the Society.

PROTECTING INDIVIDUAL WEALTH

128. Any claims and liabilities that derive from the activities of a Member within the Society can never be attached too or jeopardise the Living Man or Woman's personal and private holdings, i.e., Estate; Enterprise; Property; Assets; interests, or funds, and yet the Member agrees to settle any claim in Law and Equity.
129. When a Member has caused injury, damages, or losses to another it is incumbent upon the Member to act with Constitutional integrity and good intent to resolve the matter with equity and honour.
130. The Member is entrusted to utilise personal holdings and resources to resolve any matters in Law and Equity.
131. The Administration and Court shall never have the authority or powers to force the Member to compensate for injuries, damages, or losses; and can never deprive the Member from personal holdings against the freedoms and rights of the Member.
132. If the offending Member fails to resolve claims (any damages or losses thereof) with equity and honour this can result in expulsion from our Society.
133. If the injured Member is deprived from restoration the Administration and Court may utilise commonwealth resources to restore the Life and Estate of the injured Member – and where such restoration cannot not deprive the other Members.

EXPULSION FROM THE SOCIETY

134. The Administration may temporarily suspend and expel any Member from the Society when there is reasonable cause of unlawful and criminal activity.
135. The Administration or Court may use appropriate methods to expel and remove any Member from the Society when there is reasonable suspicion or evidence the Member is:

- a. Using threatening, abusive, and violent behaviour towards other Members.
 - b. Engaging with adverse, inappropriate, belligerent, immoral, lewd, fraudulent, theft, treasonous, corrupt, and any other unlawful behaviour.
 - c. The Member has conspired to injure, oppress, deprive, extort, threaten, coerce, corrupt, convert, or intimidate any other Members.
 - d. The Member has expropriated, misappropriated, or confiscated the Society's commonwealth in whole or part for personal use and gain.
 - e. The Member fails to act with prudence, equity, honour, integrity, and responsibility to further the mission of the Society.
 - f. The Member has an irreconcilable conflict of interests that violates this Constitution.
136. Expulsion from the Society means the Member can no longer cooperate, cohabitate, participate, communicate, or derive benefit and support from the Society and its Members.
137. Expulsion from the Society means all contracts and agreements shall rescind and cancel and therefore cease to exist.
138. Expulsion from the Society means the Members allegiance to this Constitution will be deemed and null and void.
139. Expulsion from the Society means any Private Estate Holdings contained within any Private Contract or Private Trust arrangement with the Society or Commonwealth shall be liquidated, released, and distributed to the Member in accordance with equity and honour; and where the expelled Member must relocate and restart somewhere outside of the venue and jurisdiction of our Society.

Article 7

GRACE PRIVATE COURT

140. This Society is established with its own Private Court, Law Form, and judiciary system known as Grace Private Court (hereafter "Court") that shall forever uphold and protect this Constitution.

141. The functions and operations of the Court shall be overseen and administrated by the Order of Law and Justice that shall have the authority and powers to created policies to ensure the Court adheres to this Constitution.
142. ALL judges and justices for the Court must adjudicate Law in accordance with this Constitution and where predominantly the Court must never violate the Sovereign freedoms and rights of each Member, and must always maintain Equity and Honour amongst the Members
143. Any act of injustice that disrupts, restricts, limits, violates or impedes the principles of this Constitution shall be considered an act of dishonour and betrayal in Law and Equity, and where Members can petition the Court for arbitration hearing to settle any internal disputes with an agreed resolution.
144. ALL matters of Law must follow a Due Process of Law and Rule of Law in accordance with Equity jurisprudence, and where the process and rule of Law can never be negated, suspended, or withheld, and where ignorance or violation of said Laws will be deemed unlawful, unconstitutional, ineffective, and notwithstanding.
145. Members who are accused of violating Laws shall never be considered innocent or guilty before or without a due process of Law and adjudication; and where it is deemed wrong and premature to cast insinuations, presumptions, or judgments before the facts of a matter are presented and deliberated in Law and Equity.
146. In the process and adjudication of lawful matters the Court can never prosecute, penalise, punish, incarcerate, imprison, enforce, or detain Members against their Sovereign freedoms and rights; and never deprive a Members from Life and Property; except for when a Member is a direct threat and harm to the freedoms and rights of other Members, and where the Court must utilise defensive and protective measures to restrain, detain, and expel the Member from the Society.
147. The Court shall never have a Law Enforcement Agency, Officers, or any other type of enforcement measures that would violate the natural freedoms and rights of the Members.
148. The Court may issue Affidavits, Injunctions, Judgements, Orders, Notices, Writs, and all manner of Court Instruments deemed necessary in Law, and where any such Instrument shall only be effective when issued in equity.

149. ALL Members shall reserve the natural freedoms and rights to refuse, reject, and challenge all decisions and rulings made by the Court without limitations, restrictions, or prosecution.
150. If any action is filed against this Society or its Members in any Court other than a Court of Claims pursuant to the Law and Maxims of Equity in American or English jurisprudence, then our Court shall instruct counsel to transfer the action to proceed within our Court of Equity.
151. The Court shall form and operate in accordance with a Grace Private Court Articles of Establishment that shall bind to this Constitution.

INTEGRITY OF CONSTITUTION

152. This Constitution is only applicable and effective when the Constitution retains its fundamental integrity and principle to honour and uphold the Sovereign freedoms and right of the Members in Law and Equity.
153. There are no situations, events, circumstances, actions, forces, or justifications that could ever warrant the suspension or cessation of this Constitution, and where the Constitution shall always prevail in all conditions.
154. The supreme Law of this Constitution shall always prevail over all subsequent Laws and administrative policies that derive from this Constitution.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMMENDMENTS

155. The Society, Administration, Court, and its assembled Members shall never have exclusive or individual authority and powers to unilaterally amend this Constitution; and where all amendments must undergo a collective Lawmaking Procedure as defined by the Society.
156. In any event where Members discover an error, fault, or discrepancy with this Constitution the Member can utilise the Lawmaking Procedure of this Society to propose amendments to this Constitution; and where the following applies:
 - a. The petitioning Member shall bear all responsibilities and costs to seek amendment.

- b. The Administration and Court can never refuse, reject, deny, delay, circumvent, or blockade any petitions made for amendment of this Constitution.
- c. Amendments can never obfuscate or derogate the foundational principles of this Constitution, and never be conflicting, ambiguous, or inconclusive.
- d. ALL proposed amendments must undergo a Constitutional review; where amendments are proposed; drafted; debated; revised; and voted.
- e. Only when the amendment has received a 90% majority vote of acceptance can the amendment be included and binding to this Constitution.
- f. Proposed amendments that do not receive a 90% majority vote can never be applied to this Constitution. Failed proposals can undergo a revision and be repropose for a second vote. A second failed proposal means the amendment must be abandoned.
- g. Each Member shall always retain the freedoms and rights to reject, refuse, and not comply with any amendment that violates the freedoms and rights of their own Private Law – and leave the Society.

VOLUNTARY CONSENT

- 156. Each Member shall only consent to the authority of the Administration and Court only when this Constitution is honoured and enacted in Law and Equity
- 157. Each Member shall always retain the natural freedoms and rights to refuse and reject any administrative acts that trespass-against, restricts, or diminishes the Sovereign freedom and rights of the Member.

CONSTITUTIONAL VIOLATIONS

- 158. Each Member can utilise Sovereign authority to petition and challenge the actions or inactions of any Member when there is reasonable cause and lawful basis to prove this Constitution (or its subsequent Laws thereof) have been violated; and this included any act of malfeasance, malpractice, fraud, treason, or any other dereliction of this Constitution.

159. It is incumbent upon the Member to restore justice and order when the Member has violated this Constitution; and where the Member is expected to undergo reasonable disciplinary measures to resolve the matter with equity and honour in accordance with below:
- a. ALL disciplinary measures shall only be to correct and improve the Members behaviours; and shall never punish or deprive the Member of freedoms and rights.
 - b. ALL disciplinary measures are voluntary and not compulsory; the Member reserves the freedom and right to refuse and reject any disciplinary measure.
 - c. If a Member rejects disciplinary actions and does not resolve matters in Law with equity and honour, the Member shall be expelled from our Society.

Article 9

ACCEPTANCE OF CONSTITUTION

160. The Society and its assembled Members hereby exercise volitional choice to associate in full alignment and acceptance of this Constitution; and where ALL actions and contracts formed by each Member adhere to the principles of this Constitution.
161. Each Member has undertaken all necessary studies and advice to interpret and understand the terms, meanings, and implications of this Constitution.
162. Each Member accepts and agrees with this Constitution from intuitive wisdom; good conscience, and Free-Will judgement made from a sound mind.
163. Each Member accepts and agrees with this Constitution without fidelity bond; without contractual or binding attachment; without voluntary or involuntary servitude to any administrative, political, judicial, religious, social, economic, or secular structure.
164. Each Member accepts and agrees to operate within the venue and jurisdiction of the Society with individual sovereign venue and jurisdiction; and where the acceptance of this Constitution does not confer, institute, apply, convey, or transfer to any venue or jurisdiction outside of this Society.

165. Any Member of minor age, impairment, or disability can only accept and agrees with this Constitution from the authoritative guidance and responsibility of a recognised and approved Caregiver or Family Member who shall act for and behalf of the said Member.
166. Each Member shall never be forced to comply with this Constitution. Each Member shall always retain the natural freedoms and rights to withdraw acceptance and consent from this Constitution; and where the Constitution shall no longer apply once Member has officially expressed in writing and recorded a Notice of Revocation to rescind and cancelled all agreed obligations as stated herein.
167. Each Member has officially accepted the Law of this Constitution upon entering a Private Contract Association with Grace Private Society and its assembled Members.
